INTRODUCTION

Congratulations on completing the program. As part of your training you are required to keep a logbook of all practical on the job training and exposure you receive during the learning process.

You will now be assigned to a mentor who will oversee your off-site training, usually referred to as on-the-job training.

The mentor will assist and advise you on the practical aspects of the job, how to fit into the company, what is expected of you as an employee and as a future supervisor.

Responsibilities of the learner include:

- One hundred percent commitment to the learning process. Learners are encouraged to study any additional source of information relevant to this learning process.
- Doing all assignments contained in this workbook as well any tasks and assignments received from your mentor or supervisor to whom you have been assigned.
- Although the mentor is responsible to sign off all sections completed, it is the learner's responsibility to ensure that all paperwork is completed and handed in for filing on his/her record of learning. It should be clearly stated to learners that a 100% complete record of learning, as prescribed by this logbook, is their sole responsibility. Any document missing from the record may result in your not being declared competent.
- Discuss any problems that you may have with your mentor.

Instructions to the Mentor

Congratulations on your appointment as a mentor to the learner. This is a very responsible assignment because you have been tasked with the responsibility of rounding off the learner's practical exposure.

You must ensure that you are familiar with all aspects of the work covered in this logbook because you must keep a daily account of the learner's performance.

You are also required to report to the learnership coordinator skills development facilitator, or as agreed between yourself, the coordinator and the learner regarding the learner's progress. Your responsibilities as mentor are as follows:

- Study the logbook and acquaint yourself with its content and format
- Remember this logbook is the learner's full record of learning and workplace exposure. All activities which the learner participates in must be recorded, and all documents produced in relation to this learnership must form part of the record of learning
- Get all the learners together and explain its purpose to them and also what is required of them
- Remember the mentor is the creator of learning and exposure opportunities. You should therefore not confine the learner's exposure to this logbook alone
- Continuously guide them in doing the assignments and arranging the planned exposure with the relevant departments
- File all duplicate records of learning on a file for each learner
- Send all original records to the training provider at the end of end of each month. The Seta also requires that copies be held at the companies
- This logbook need not be followed chronologically, but please note that the learner is required to work through the entire logbook by the end of the learning period

Responsibilities of the Employer

- Creating an atmosphere conducive to learning
- Giving learners ample access to the working environment. Remember that learners should be productive employees to get practical exposure to all aspects of the transport operation as required by the learnership
- Ensure that learners, mentors and assessors attend all training required and arrange and pay travelling and accommodation costs
- Ensure availability of sufficient mentors and workplace assessors

Training Provider Responsibility

- Provide all practical learning material in electronic and/or hard copy, depending on the circumstances
- Provide training for mentors and workplace assessors if required and provide the learning material
- Visit employers to monitor progress and provide guidance and feedback.
- Provide an online and telephonic support system to all mentors and learners

- AK0105 Potential delays and barriers

CASE STUDY 1

Case Study: Observing and Assessing a Child's Behavior and Progress

Introduction: This case study focuses on observing and assessing a child's behavior and progress in an early childhood education setting. By applying observation techniques, utilizing different assessment methods, considering child development ages and stages, adhering to ethics and confidentiality guidelines, and addressing potential delays and barriers, educators can gather valuable information to inform individualized support and promote the child's overall development.

Background: The early childhood education setting caters to children aged 3 to 4 years old. The staff includes qualified early childhood educators who are trained in observation techniques, assessment methods, child development, and ethical considerations. The setting is equipped with the necessary tools and resources to facilitate accurate and comprehensive observations and assessments.

Case Study Scenario: A child named Alex has recently joined the early childhood education setting. Alex is 3 years old and has shown some delays in speech and language development. The educators aim to observe and assess Alex's behavior and progress to gain a better understanding of their needs and provide appropriate support.

CASE STUDY 2

Case Study: Identifying and Assessing Children's Learning and Development

Introduction: This case study focuses on identifying and assessing children's learning and development in an early childhood education setting. By identifying and describing different aspects of learning and development, assessing children's progress, performance, and participation, utilizing observation and assessment records and reports, and reflecting on observation, assessment, and reporting practices, educators can gather valuable information to inform their practice, provide individual support, and promote positive learning outcomes for diverse learners.

Background: The early childhood education setting caters to children aged 4 to 5 years old. The staff includes experienced early childhood educators who have a deep understanding of child development and assessment practices. The setting is equipped with tools and resources for observations and assessments, as well as a diverse range of learning materials and adaptations to meet the needs of all learners.

INSTRUCTIONS

You are required to perform the task below and your Supervisor/facilitator/mentor will assess you based on the below observation checklist attached:

Given relevant tools and templates and documentation, the learner must be able to:

- PA0101 Identify and describe the aspects of children's learning and development
- PA0102 Assess the children's progress, performance and participation, taking into consideration diverse learners
- PA0103 Use observation and assessment records and reports to inform practice, referrals and individual support plans/programmes
- PA0104 Reflect and review observation, assessment and reporting practices

Attach evidence of observation and assessment records and reports

CASE STUDY 3

Case Study: Recording and Reporting Children's Progress According to Age and Stage

Introduction: This case study focuses on recording and reporting on each child's progress in an early childhood education setting, according to their age and stage of development. By applying appropriate recording and reporting methods and adhering to ethics and confidentiality guidelines, educators can effectively track and communicate children's progress to inform decision-making, involve parents or guardians, and provide individualized support.

Background: The early childhood education setting caters to children aged 2 to 4 years old. The staff includes trained early childhood educators who are knowledgeable about recording and reporting methods, as well as ethical considerations in maintaining confidentiality. The setting has established protocols and systems for recording and reporting children's progress.

Case Study Scenario: The educators have noticed that children in the classroom have varying levels of development and learning. They aim to accurately record and report each child's progress, taking into account their age and stage, to ensure effective communication with parents and provide tailored support
